The chart reflects the total, including those not issued and those pending QA. I will check with power that be, but I think we are going to what to stick to what have been approved, which according to this chart is 50. Are we able to tell how many of that number were issued at mobiles. I wouldn't need that today, because I won't give the media any new numbers except on Tuesday.

Also, are we no longer going to track the total number of inquiries?

You can call me if you prefer.

The new format for EIC reporting is attached. To date we have issued 50 EICs with an additional 20 in the validation process. There are 4 EIC applications which are not valid.

Demographic information is included on the second slide.
